

Job 4 • Laying Error Alongside Truth

1. (v.1-6) There is a difference between reacting to someone and ministering to them. Reactive measures are most often undertaken based on feelings rather than seeking the Lord's counsel.
2. (v.7-11) One's spiritual walk is not entirely measured by earthly circumstances. What looks like consequences for unfaithfulness may instead be a test of faith.
3. (v.12-21) The lessons God has taught us personally may not universally apply to everyone else. "God told me" is often a way of elevating one's self rather than communicating truth.
